Presentation

Accelerate Database Provisioning

Come learn about database virtualization, an innovative technology approach that provides complete, fully functional databases that operate in 1/10th the storage space, with improved agility, manageability and performance. Database virtualization enables multiple copies of production databases to be served off a single virtual storage footprint, reduces provisioning and refresh times from days to minutes, and enables instant database recovery to any previous point in time – with zero impact to production systems.

Make sure to enter the drawing for a flip cam to be given away at the meeting!

Speaker Bio

Mark Riley is currently a Principal Architect with Delphix Corporation headquartered in Palo Alto, CA. Prior to Delphix Mark held various positions at Oracle for over 18 years. During that time span Mark was a Member of Technical Staff developing Oracle 8i, worked as a Technical Director in Oracle's professional services organization tackling high performance, high availability requirements in corporate accounts, and functioned as a Principal Sales Consultant handling strategic accounts. Throughout his career, Mark has focused on architecting more efficient and cost effective hardware and software solutions that address business challenges.
